Richer Than Gold: Biodiversity vs. Industrial Mining

Join us for an exciting adventure into one of the last unlogged watersheds in western Ecuador to document the rich biodiversity that is threatened by mining. Our presenters have just returned from a National Geographic expedition into the heart of the cloud forest to help describe its wonders. Roo Vandegrift & Tobias Policha will share background on the biodiversity of the region, highlight findings from their recent adventure, and discuss current and future challenges for preserving this part of the planet. Expect beautiful images of wonderful organisms!
